Thermal Vacuum Carafes

Vacuum insulation provides the best heat retention. Vacuum means the air between the outer and inner layers of the stainless steel or glass has been removed to create a vacuum insulation. It blocks heat from transferring through air which greatly minimizes the temperature change of your drink. A vacuum insulated thermal carafe can maintain the temperature much longer than a non-insulated container. Glass Vacuum Liner: They are excellent at temperature retention and have an easy to clean surface that flavors and odors do not adhere to. Stainless Steel Liner: They are strong and have excellent temperature retention with recommended pre-use preparation.

A woman and a man are walking on a beach at sunset. The woman is in the foreground, wearing a grey beanie, a dark vest over a light-colored long-sleeved shirt, and dark pants. She is smiling and looking towards the right. The man is behind her, wearing a dark beanie and a dark vest over a light-colored shirt. They are walking through tall, golden grass. In the background, there is a sandy beach, the ocean, and a bright sunset sky.
